BIG 4 AGREES AUSTRIA MUST REPAY OWNERS

Full Restoration of Property Seized for Race, Religious Reasons Decreed.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, April 7—The four powers agreed in the committee working on the Austrian peace treaty today that Austria must return to Jewish and other owners property taken from them in the German control period for racial and religious reasons.

It also was agreed that, in cases where restoration was impossible, compensation would be paid.

These agreements, restricted by the usual string of reservations and minor amendments, came as word spread among western diplomats that Foreign Minister V. M Molotov of Russia was preparing a new blast at the American-British reparations policies in Germany when the inter-Allied reparations agency report comes up in the council of foreign ministers

Marshall Move Hinted

Authoritative circles said U. S. Secretary of State Marshall would press in the council for restoration to German control of eastern farm lands now under Polish administration

This would involve revision of a previous provisional agreement of the Big Four setting the boundary between Germany and Poland on the Oder and Neisse rivers The United States delegation was reported to view such a revision as highly essential to a balanced economy in Germany—a thickly populated, highly industrialized country now short on food producing lands

Any such proposal was deemed certain to become one of the hottest political issues of the current conference to draw up German and Austrian peace treaties. The pleas are strongly against losing any territory they have taken over The Germans are just as strongly in favor of getting back all they can.

Russia on Hot Spot

In the event this controversy comes to a head in the ministers council say some observers, the big power on the hottest spot would be the Soviet Union, which has the problem of dealing with the conflicting national aims of Germany and Poland in terms of Communist efforts to gain strength in both countries.

Boundary questions were due to arise in connection with discussion of Germany's frontiers This business came next on the council's program of work after the finish of talks on current German economic and political problems and the future structure of the German government, scheduled to lead off today's session

GROMYKO DEMANDS U. S. SCRAP A-BOMB

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 7—Andrei A. Gromyko today renewed Russia's demand that the United States scrap its atomic bombs immediately The Soviet deputy foreign minister declared that such a step plus a general slash in armaments would "remove mutual suspicion and lack of confidence" throughout the world

Delivering the long-awaited Soviet policy speech to the United Nations commission on conventional armaments, Gromyko ripped into assertions of the western powers that iron-clad international security measures must precede actual disarming

The Soviet delegate to the UN also rejected American and British contentions that disarming must be conditioned on establishment of safeguards.

He said the general assembly resolution of last December calling for arms reduction did not "directly or indirectly" indicate any necessity for such safeguards.

Today Is Deadline For Registration

Deadline for registrations and transfers for the May 6 primary election falls at 9 p m today, with several hundred Marion residents still not eligible to vote

The Marion county board of elections reported today registrations and transfers were slow. Only about 75 persons visited the election board office Saturday to register or transfer, board officials said, although they estimated several hundred would have to register or transfer to be eligible to vote The city's total registration figure now stands at approximately 14,800.

Today also was the opening date for casting absentee primary ballots Absentee ballots may be cast by persons who expect to be more than 50 miles from their voting precincts on election day.

Congregations Fill Marion Churches at Easter Services

Throngs yesterday filled Marion churches, where the voices of children and adults were raised in Easter anthems and sermons proclaimed anew the story of the Resurrection. Some churches reported more than usual attendance at sunrise services. Flowers and plants adorned the altars and outstanding were the regal white lilies, traditional Easter flower.

A kindly sun lent its favor to the Easter parade here, having obligingly showed up for sunrise services But a strong wind made many wish it were the style to have bonnets that were made to tie on. All in all, however, Marion was among those communities which can count Easter, 1947, as a "fine spring day"

450 At Memorial

An audience of about 450 participated in the annual Easter morning service at the Harding Memorial which is sponsored by the Y-Teen, formerly Girl Reserves, and Hi-Y clubs. It was the first time in the history of these services that a student gave the Easter message. Miss Anne Baldwin, president of the Marion Christian Youth Movement and a senior at Harding High school, was the speaker. Attendance was reported as more than at any previous year's service.

Easter breakfast followed many of the more than a dozen other early services. THOUSANDS OF COAL MINERS REMAIN IDLE

Ignore End of Mourning Period, Demanding Pits Be Made Safe.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, April 7 — Thousands of the nation's coal miners, demanding that their mines be made safe, remained idle today following elapse of the six-day mourning period they observed for the Centralia, Ill., mine tragedy.

Some mines were operating in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, but all eastern Ohio pits were reported closed. Early reports did not estimate the portion of the 400,000 soft coal diggers who continued the work stoppage.

The solid fuels administration office in Altoona, Pa, announced that some mines in the big central Pennsylvania field were closed, but that these included pits which "don't operate anyway on Easter Monday."

A Navy spokesman at Pittsburgh reported that a "good many" mines in this area were working, including "some which had been declared hazardous" The latter were certified as safe after corrective steps were taken

"Only a few" mines in the northern field of West Virginia were reported working

"Safe" Ohio Pits Idle

Among the eastern Ohio mines staying closed were two at St. Clairsville which were certified as safe by a federal mine inspector yesterday.

The work stoppage called by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, in memory of 111 miners killed in the Centralia, Ill., blast, was over at midnight last night. Reports from the field, however, showed wide confusion and uncertainty as to what mines were scheduled to reopen.

Industrial sources were loath to comment on what the effects of a prolonged work stoppage would be. Plants, generally, got through the mourning period with little disruption because of adequate stockpiles But a continued lack of the vital bituminous fuel would be a different matter.

Reports from soft coal states gave this picture

Ohio — Ohio miners stayed out of the soft coal pits today, and waited for their chief, John L Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, to settle his dispute with federal officials over the safety of mines.

Fifty-seven Ohio mines were ordered closed last week by Interior Secretary Krug as unsafe, following an attack by Lewis which came before a six-day mourning period for mine disaster

HEAVY FLOODS OF WEEKEND RECEDING

By The Associated Press

Floods which forced thousands of persons from their homes into a throw-back of wintry weather over the Easter weekend either were receding or cresting today but with continued "quite cool" temperatures forecast for most of the stricken areas.

The Chicago federal weather bureau said no additional rainfall was in prospect for any of the flooded areas but that nothing more than "warming tendencies" could be expected during the next 24 hours.

In Michigan, hit by its worst flood in history, Flint and Lansing were in a state of emergency as sand-bagging crews built up dams and railroad right-of-ways against the flood crests expected today.

Three deaths were reported in the wake of gales which leveled telephone communications in many sections of the state.

Three feet of water in the General Motors plant at Flint forced a shut down of operations and the temporary lay-off of 12,000 workers.

The state's flood and wind damage was estimated at millions of dollars.

At Meadville, Pa., more than 100 families were evacuated from their homes and factories [illegible] French [illegible]

40 INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

Pennsy Passenger Cracks Up at Columbia City, Ind., Street Crossing.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBIA, CITY, Ind, April 7—The Pennsylvania railroad's Gotham Limited train carrying more than 300 passengers was wrecked at 12 12 a. m. today at a street crossing in South Columbia City, injuring at least 40 persons

An Indiana state trooper at the scene said no one was killed outright and none of the injured appeared in critical condition, although "three or four were seriously hurt"

Arthur Jackson, Columbia City policeman, said he was approaching the crossing in a cruiser car as the train approached and "I saw a burst of flame shoot from the locomotive. Then the engine nosed over."

K. E. Berkins of Fort Wayne, the brakeman, said "the train apparently just jumped the track The only car to overturn was a pullman Most of the injured were taken from it"

The state police reported there were 15 cars in the train and 13 were derailed The locomotive remained upright. Troopers said the roadbed was plowed up and "in a mess"

The Pennsylvania railroad reported in Philadelphia that 35 were injured, and that one person, a mail clerk, was hurt seriously

The stranded passengers were taken to Fort Wayne by bus.

By The Associated Press

GANGER, Wyo, April 7—Four cars of the Union Pacific east-bound streamliner City of Portland were derailed yesterday in a collision with a freight train, injuring 11 passengers.

The cars remained upright and officials said the injured were treated at the scene for bruises and cuts from glass of broken windows and then resumed their trip when the train continued east two hours later.

A railroad spokesman said the freight had run through a block signal instead of stopping until the streamliner had cleared the mainline.

The injured included John L. Willett of Cleveland, O.,

Eyestone Death Still Mystery

Questioning of Upper Sandusky Woman's Husband Continues.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, April 7—Kenneth Eyestone, 30, Upper Sandusky trucker, still was held without charge today in connection with the death of his wife, Reva

Wyandot County Sheriff B H Stansbery said there were no further developments in the case, although he added the investigation was continuing

Eyestone, arrested in Newark last Saturday, "changed his story in a couple of places," the sheriff reported, but he added, "So far, the case has not developed a single clue. We have absolutely nothing to go on"

Eyestone, since his arrest, has continued to deny any knowledge of how his wife met her death. Her body was found in the driveway of the Eyestone home on West Spring street and investigators said she apparently had been crushed under the wheels of a motor vehicle

Services for Mrs Eyestone will be at 2 30 p m Tuesday at Trinity Evangelical United Brethren church here

Distant Calls Cut; Dial Phones Continue Service

By The Associated Press

Telephone workers from coast to coast walked off their jobs today, crippling service in the nation's vast telephone industry.

Still unaffected were dial telephones, which serve about 60 per cent of the nation's telephone users, and leased wire service to press and radio.

Supervisory employes stepped in to provide emergency service where long distance and local services were affected.

An estimated 340,000 workers, demanding $12 a week pay increase and other contract changes, made the walkout nationwide at 9 a. m. when employes of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company quit in Los Angeles.

First in American History

The strike, first nationwide telephone walkout in American history, began in the east shortly before 6 a. m. EST—the official deadline—and spread westward for three hours as the deadline time marched across the nation.

President Joseph A. Beirne of the National Federation of Telephone Workers (IND) officially announced the strike was on at 5:55 a. m.

The large urban areas of the east and middlewest were hardest hit, although New England was comparatively free of the strike.

Dial systems remained in operation and company spokesmen declared such phones could operate for a long time without maintenance work.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company said there were 31,600,000 telephones in service in the United States, of which 18,700,000—approximately 60 per cent—were dial

Widespread Bell Hookup

Of this total, 25,709,000 are in the Bell system The remainder are in other companies, mostly in small towns, whose lines are connected to the Bell system for long distance purposes.

The union proposed arbitration of all issues on a nationwide basis Management proposed arbitration only on wages and on a company-by-company basis in the Bell system.

At the root of the telephone dispute are ten union demands which the industry says would cost $700,000,000 a year. The cost figure compares with $250,000,000 industry earnings in 1946 Workers now average weekly salaries of $43 19

In New York City, nerve center of the communications world, the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said the strike was "100 per cent effective" in the long lines department after pickets took up their posts at 5.50 a. m.

Affected Cities Named

A company spokesman at 7 15 a m said that the strike was effective in Rochester, Syracuse, Binghamton, Elmira, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, both offices in Washington, D. C, Providence, R. I, Boston, Newark, Charleston, W. Va, Baltimore and Elkton, Md.

In Philadelphia striking NFTW workers threw up picket lines around telephone exchanges at 6 02 a. m

The state of New Jersey seized the 204 plants of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. at 6 12 a. m, 12 minutes after a union spokesman announced employes had gone on strike.

This was the first major labor dispute of 1947 to result in a shutdown.

It immediately raised the questions:

Will President Truman take the sprawling telephone industry? Several top administration officials reportedly [illegible] to any such move. [illegible]

Principal Points Of Phone Strike

Issues—Strikers demand wage increases of $12 weekly. The government says average weekly pay is now $43 19. Union also asks union shop and other concessions.

Negotiations—The union proposed arbitration of all issues on a nation-wide basis. Management proposed arbitration only on wages and on a company-by-company basis in the Bell system.

Seizure—Attorney General Clark has ruled that President Truman has the power to seize the telephone companies. Top administration officials were reported against taking any such action immediately.

Bell System Defines "Emergency Calls"

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 7 — The Bell Telephone system defines as "emergency calls," for priority handling on non-dial local exchanges and long distance lines, the following:

"Calls in connection with fire, flood, wreck, tornado, riot, serious accident or illness, death or any disaster, emergency requiring the aid of police, fire department, hospitals, doctors, ambulances or life-saving service, militia or other government authorities and calls from utility companies in connection with power or pipeline failures."

Boyle Finds Oysters Moody and Sensitive

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

BEAUFORT, N C, April 7—The world isn't Dr. Herbert F. Prytherch's oyster. But the oyster is his world.

He is the first man ever to grow oysters in a laboratory tank—a feat that may open a new era in the oyster industry.

For 26 of his 48 years Dr Prytherch, director of the U S fisheries laboratory here, has been prying into the private life of the oyster. He's the No. 1 Boswell of the Bivalves

Hal Boyle

Convincing oysters they could be happy in a nice sheltered indoor tank was no easy matter For all their hard-shelled isolation, oysters are moody and sensitive creatures Transferred to the tanks from their natural habitat the crusty introverts for years just withdrew into their pearly home, closed its pearly gates and died

Need Variety, Change

"It took me fifteen years to learn a few fundamental determining factors,' said Dr Prytherch. One factor was that the static oyster, like more mobile animals must have variety and change

He learned that instead of requiring sea water of a fixed and unvarying salinity, the oyster thrived in the tank only when he introduced currents of fresh and salt water. This simulated the tidal mixing of fresh and salt water that occurs at the mouths of rivers where wild oysters love to settle down

"The change is good for them," way that winter and summer said Dr Prytherch, "in the same changes benefit human beings Variety is healthy"

Oysters, sedentary as flagpole sitters, can't rove for food and must wait for the sea to bring it to them They are among the greatest tipplers in nature They drink fifty gallons of water daily, sifting from it the nourishment they need This is in the form of plankton minute organisms which are the bread of the sea, the basic food for all sea life.

Grows Food At Will

Dr Prytherch grows this food at will in his laboratory tanks.

'We don't claim to know all the fundamentals too well," he said 'But basically it is a problem of fertilizing the water to grow the plankton needed by the oyster"

The laboratory is exploring methods of thus growing oysters under controlled conditions on a large scale

"It is a little early to tell about commercial possibilities," said the scientist But he pointed out that oyster beds grown under controlled conditions could be protected from destructive storms and raiding starfish and other natural enemies

Several years ago Dr. Prytherch learned by watching starfish and seagulls how to speed the shucking of oysters

Soda Water Effective

Starfish open oysters by secreting a fluid that paralyzes the muscles of the oyster that close his shell Soda water, Dr Prytherch found, has the same effect

By taking a tip from the seagulls he found an even simpler way Gulls open shellfish by flying up and dropping them on the beach The impact dazes the shellfish The scientist found he could duplicate this "shellshock" by placing oysters in a violently tumbling barrel while water jets cleaned their shells The oysters came out bathed, punchdrunk and ready for shucking

Dr Prytherch subscribes to the popular belief held long before mankind turned to monkey glands that oysters have rejuvenating qualities

"Oysters are definitely rich in vitamin E, calcium and other minerals," he said, "and there is no need to wait for the 'R' months to eat them They're good the year around"

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Aided by Penicillin

It may be that we will soon have to chalk up another victory for penicillin, this time over the stubborn and troublesome ulcerative colitis

So far, the exact cause of this disorder of the large bowel is not known It is thought likely that germ infection is responsible but, if it is, the germ which causes it has not been identified

The symptoms of this condition, however, are unfortunately all too familiar to its thousands of victims Ulcers are formed in the large bowel with resulting diarrhea, loss of weight and strength, anemia or lessening of the coloring matter in the blood, and the presence of blood in the bowel movements

Drs Bernard B Korostoff and Harry E King of the Medical Corps of the Army of the U. S used penicillin to treat patients with this condition The penicillin was given by injection into a muscle every three hours over a period of five days.

The patients all were considered to be moderate to severe cases One of the patients had been treated by diet and other methods for two weeks without improvement A second patient had been given iron preparations and sulfadiazine in addition to dietary treatment without any notable benefit The other patients had been treated in similar ways and some had been suffering on and off for a number of years

It was noted that during or immediately following the treatment with the penicillin the ulcers in the large bowel disappeared Three of the patients obtained complete relief from all symptoms with the penicillin treatment, while the other two were considerably improved

Drs Korostoff and King have not observed any other treatment of ulcerative colitis which seemed to benefit the patients so rapidly. Just how the penicillin works is not known It is possible that it gets into the wall of the bowel and there stops the growth of the germs or eliminates them completely

The most effective dose of penicillin to be used in the treatment of ulcerative colitis is not definitely determined It is possible that the use of larger amounts than those given to these patients and employed over a longer period of time might produce even better results than those reported

This does not mean that all patients will necessarily benefit with the penicillin, but it adds a new weapon for the treatment of ulcerative colitis which thus far has been a most dificult disorder to overcome in many instances.

"Supply Arsenal Of Education" Set Up At Ohio Community

HILLSBORO, O., April 7 — School superintendents of 11 southern Ohio counties are operating the state's first "supply arsenal of education" at nearby Lynchburg.

That is what Weaver G. Williamson, superintendent of Highland county schools, calls the leased warehouse which is the center for purchasing, storage and distribution of surplus government supplies used by or are adaptable for the use of schools.

Ninety-six schools are participating in the joint project, said Williamson, one of the administrators of the warehouse.

Inability of individual schools to buy surplus equipment in small quantities inspired the co-operative program, Williamson explained.

Pickaway county has 12 participating schools, the largest number, and Fayette county has four, the smallest. Highland county has seven.

Other counties in the project are Brown, Clinton, Scioto, Ross, Adams, Clermont, Madison and Pike.

The unanimous election of Arnold L. Gardner of Cardington to membership in the Ayrshire Breeders' Association has been announced by National Secretary C. T. Conklin of Brandon, Vt. A farm site four miles northeast of Wooster has been selected to help the boys contribute toward their support.

Curtain To Rise Tonight On Cleveland Opera Year

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 7—The curtain will rise tonight on the 22nd Cleveland Metropolitan opera season in Public hall and another record-shattering week is a possibility.

N. J. Miskell, general manager of the Cleveland season, reported six of the eight performances were sold out, while Thomas L. Sidlo, chairman of the Northern Ohio Opera association, predicted last year's record attendance would be equalled, if not exceeded.

The Met Week will open tonight with Cleveland's own production of Leo Delibes' "Lakme." A gift from the Northern Ohio Opera association, sponsors of the Cleveland season, financed the production in which Lily Pons will have the title role.

CRITICS SEEK TO NARROW TRUMAN'S AID DOCTRINE

Plan Restriction Pledges U. S. to Avoid Internal Fights.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 7—Senate critics sought anew today to narrow President Truman's doctrine of world-wide aid to "free peoples" by writing into the Greek-Turkish bill a proclamation against intervention in any other nation's civil strife.

With the senate expected to start debating the $400,000,000 stem - Communism measure Wednesday, Senator Edwin C. Johnson, (D-Colo), spearheaded a drive for such a non-intervention amendment even though it already has been rejected by the foreign relations committee.

Johnson's proposals would state in effect that the United States in extending aid to Greece and Turkey, is not establishing a policy under which it will feel called upon to intervene in the troubles of nations elsewhere. It also would reaffirm American intentions to submit to the United Nations all future disturbances involving world peace.

The Colorado senator told a reporter he regards Mr. Truman's March 10 statement to congress that this country will "support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressures" a departure from traditional American policy.

A part of the program was turned over to receiving pledges for the next fiscal year of the church. Communion was observed in the morning service, instead of at night, as previously announced, in order that members might join in the evening service at the Methodist church.

Bitter Debate on New Foreign Policy To Begin This Week

(This is the first of two stories on America's new foreign policy which the senate starts debating this week).

By JAMES MARLOW
(Associated Press Writer)

WASHINGTON, April 7—Bitter, historic debate begins this week in the senate on United States aid for Greece and Turkey.

The senate seems sure to approve this American adventure which is a new foreign policy.

James Marlow

Simply stated, it is this: to stop the spread of Communism where we can and as we can, starting now.

The reality behind the move at this time, brushing aside all vague words and double-talk, comes down to this:

1. We have the atom bomb now and we're the strongest nation now. By acting now, we may be able to stop the spread of Communism.

2. Russia, lacking the bomb and still suffering from World War II, may not feel strong enough to oppose us vigorously right now.

3. If Communism spreads and Russia grows stronger, developing her own bomb, it may be too late for us to act later.

"Act Now or Never"

In short: do we act now when we can or wait until perhaps we can't?

President Truman, who says "we must take a positive stand," has asked congress to vote $400,000,000 for Greece and Turkey.

Both countries have asked us for help although both countries are a long way from having the kind of democracy we have.

But Turkey, with a big army, is prepared to resist pressure from Russia. Greek Communists are trying to overthrow the Greek government.

Our money and military supplies will help the Greek government crush its Communists and the Turks stand up against Russia.

Could Dominate Middle East

If Greece goes Communist and Turkey yields to Russia pressure, Russia will dominate eastern Europe and the Mediterranean and the Middle East.

Mr. Truman and our statesmen, who have to deal with Russia, haven't hit directly at Russia in so many words.

But Senator George, Georgia Democrat, can afford to be more blunt. He is. He says:

"If unchecked, Russia will inevitably overrun Europe, extend herself into Asia, and perhaps South America. Non-action will not check Russian expansion."

In a Communized world the capitalistic United States hardly would be strong enough for a showdown.

May Light Fires of War

Yet, by stepping into Greece and Turkey now, the U. S. may be starting a fire which will end in a war with Russia, when it's stronger.

So, in blessing American aid for Greece and Turkey, congress will have to think of the effects 10 or 20 years from now.

It will have to consider more than that. How far do we go in this new foreign policy? After Greece and Turkey, what? And how long?

As stated before many times by many people, the No. 1 problem of our time is: can capitalism and Communism live peacefully side by side indefinitely?

The world is going through a great revolutionary period, with tremendous changes in governments since World War I.

Few democracies today are as democratic as our own, in our sense of the word, with truly representative government and freedom for the individual and for business.

Might Become Democracies

Given time and nourishment, such as we'll give Greece, they might move closer to this country's kind of democracy.

Most of the world is impoverished, with people hungry and disorganized.

They are ripe for revolutionary groups, such as Communists, who promise them something better than they have.

By giving help to a country like Greece, this country is buying time, in the hope it will get on its feet. But the deep question is: Is time enough? Is help from us to governments now in power enough? Or will the world swing further left and the revolutionary tide move on, in spite of what we try to do to stop it?

Greece Moves To Stamp Out Guerrilla Movement

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, April 7—Greece, her deceased king in his grave and his brother on the throne, moved with the help of outside advice today to step up her warfare on anti-government guerrillas.

Following a 50-minute funeral service yesterday in Athens' Greek Orthodox cathedral, King George II was buried near his summer-palace birthplace at Tatoi northeast of here. The climax of the service came when the new king, 45-year-old Paul I, stepped up to the casket, knelt, crossed himself and then stood and kissed the icon (holy picture) on top of his brother's bier.

Rear Adm. J. A. Snackenberg, United States naval attache, was to go with Navy Minister Sophocles Venizelos today, said a government announcement, on a destroyer voyage to Volos north of here to inspect naval units and installations in preparation for a promised drive against northern guerrillas.

The Time of Need Is Now

The Selective Service System, which helped build so magnificent a wartime Army, is being discontinued as an immediate source of men for Army service. Its record is one of distinction, and the Nation's gratitude goes out to all those responsible for the efficient administration of that system, as well as to the millions of selected men who served with such courage and devotion.

From now on we are engaged in a great test, to see whether a system traditionally American in peacetime—the volunteer system—can give us the stable, well-trained Regular Army our current international commitments require.

It is clear that we have come to a crucial turning point in the development of our military establishment. It is also clear that building an all-volunteer Regular Army is not a job for the War Department alone; it is a job for the American people. Theirs is the task of writing the insurance against the chaos of another war.

Here are the basic facts: To carry out our present assignments, we must maintain the Regular Army at a strength of 1,070,000 men. Our latest calculations show that this will require a constant flow into the Army of 30,000 men a month. These men must be of high quality, and every one must be a volunteer. Thus we face a persistent question: Can we do the job?

The task is enormous. Never before have we even considered raising and maintaining a peacetime Regular Army of a million volunteers. There are no sign-posts to go by, no experience on which to base sure forecasts. But such obstacles have never deterred this Nation before.

I have confidence in the young men of America, whose opportunity it is to choose this fine profession. And I believe we can do the job—if we have three things: public understanding, public support and public action.

The national observance of Army Day and Army Week is made possible by public support. This has come from the fine young soldiers who have volunteered, from individuals, and from organized groups. Now, as we strive to build a Regular Army which will serve as a potent force in the common search for world peace and security, I ask those who have given so generously of their help to redouble their efforts.

They can do so in the knowledge that the United States Army offers able young Americans not only three things every man wants—good pay, a real career, a chance for advancement—but also the honor and dignity which is associated with national service in time of need.

The time of need is now.

The Problem of John L. Lewis

JOHN L. LEWIS' roars of anger because Secretary of Interior Krug didn't avert the Centralia disaster don't conceal the fact Mr. Lewis didn't avert it either. He has as much and perhaps greater power to close coal mines than the federal official he is castigating. If men are going to be thrown into unemployment willy-nilly because certain other men are making a public issue of the long-established fact that coal mining is a dangerous occupation, Mr. Lewis can do it as easily as Mr. Krug—and Mr. Lewis has had a great deal more practice

Mr. Lewis, as a labor leader, is as much a problem in psychology as in collective bargaining Viewed as manifestations of psychology, his recent outbursts and his defiant attitude during the contempt proceedings in which he involved himself and his union suggest he may be using an inordinate amount of bluster to conceal an unusual volume of personal complications

He has been the cause of a $780,000 fine imposed on his union by the federal government. The same mistake in judgment which brought the fine brought a supreme court decision clarifying the government's right to give orders to coal miners in government-seized properties. The properties were seized, moreover, because Mr Lewis planned it that way. There may be labor leaders in tighter spots than he is right now, but none whose qualifications is so well publicized

Precedent Setter

IT IS likely that future appointments to the atomic energy commission may be scrutinized as closely as appointments to the supreme court The issue joined over David E. Lilienthal as the presidential nominee for chairman probably is a precedent setter.

Anything less than the attention given Lilienthal's fitness would have slighted the importance of the atomic energy commission. He deserved, more rather than less, scrutiny, especially on the point of private enterprise's rights in the forthcoming exploitation of atomic fission.

Some of the nation's most distinguished appointive servants in the past have undergone trials by fire in the senate which make Lilienthal's case seem casual in comparison—men like Charles Evans Hughes, Louis D. Brandeis and the younger Oliver Wendell Holmes As a general rule, appointees who have survived close senatorial scrutiny have been of superior quality.

If there has been anything disturbing in the threshing-out of Lilienthal's qualifications to be chairman of a major government commission charged with responsibility for atomic energy it has been the relative neglect of the other appointees—Sumner T. Pike, William Wesley Waymack, Robert Fox Bacher and Lewis L. Strauss. These are the men who must decide whether atomic energy is to be reserved to government, or made freely available to the American public—possibly the greatest decision men will be called on to make in this century.

The Company They Keep

SUSPENSION of Merle Hapes and Frank Filchock from professional football for associating with gamblers should result in athletes choosing their company more carefully Three of their professional gambler associates have been sentenced to terms up to 10 years, the first man ever convicted of a felony in connection with the bribery of athletes.

No testimony was abduced to show the players accepted bribes, nor was there any allegation they had done anything criminal. They were suspended for failure to report they had been approached by gamblers.

The story of players' involvement indicates that at first they may have been dupes under the impression they were recipients of a Good-Time Charley's hospitality It was not until later—about the time of the season's big games —that talk turned to "throwing" games That they rebuffed these proposals was not enough.

Hereafter the professional athlete who would steer clear of trouble would do well to adopt Chevalier de Bayard's motto of "Above Fear and Above Reproach," because the public sets great store by another motto, "A man is known by the company he keeps"

Our Costly Cavity

WE HAVE a gold-filled cavity at Fort Knox the largest and costliest in the world. This is brought to mind by the fact that Russia has resumed gold shipments to the United States after the war years. In the first 12 months Russia received $33,729,000 for its gold, in addition to which it netted $49,000,000 in other transactions.

As holder of 60 percent of the world supply, the United States must buy gold so that it will continue to be accepted freely throughout the world as the international currency.

We have $20,000,000,000 of gold. That's 585,000,000 ounces or 18,290 tons. Gold is heavy, inert and malleable, but not particularly useful. A man from Mars would have a difficult time understanding why it is so valuable. Sometimes the ordinary earthling does, too.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

New "Liberal Movement" Analyzed.

WASHINGTON, April 7—A new liberal movement has come out of three months' organization work and two days of policy sessions (250 attended) here President of this "Americans for Democratic Action" is Wilson Wyatt, let go by President Truman as houser Chairman is Leon Henderson, let go by the President as OPA price fixer. Vice chairman is Franklin D Roosevelt Jr, who never got anywhere to be let go from

To answer the yearnings of world millions of people, these leaders, who are now to let themselves go into concerted promotional action, set forth a formula which read

"Our program is directed toward this one goal: a society in which each individual enjoys the highest degree of personal liberty compatible with liberty, justice and economic security for his fellows"

Possible Meanings

Read that over again! What does it mean? It might mean Republicanism because they seem to be angry at Mr. Truman. Yet that is highly doubtful because they do not specify they are for this government as is It might mean Democracy (not democracy) because young Mr. Roosevelt says it is against the way this Republican congress has been going. It might mean both, as he also suggested they would support more Democrats than Republicans But it could not be both because this group proposes an independent action movement Under its own definition, it could be communistic because the Russian dictatorship believes only in as much freedom for the individual as is compatible with the freedom of other citizens, meaning none at all. But the group denounces communism specifically, so it cannot be that either. Could it mean nazism or fascism? Hitler and Mussolini believed in only so much freedom for the individual as is compatible with "liberty, justice and economic security for his fellows," which also meant none at all

But this action movement also denounces fascism so it cannot mean that.

Possibly Slavery

Actually it could mean slavery of nearly any kind Slavery has been maintained in varying degrees on the principle generally that it was not only compatible with, but absolutely necessary for the freedom, justice and security of the enslavers.

A paper explanation of the movement probably is that it is entirely disillusioned ideologically and does not know what freedom is This is plausible, as its leaders are officials let go because their theories did not work satisfactorily, and they in turn are part of a larger New Deal group which attempted to appease an unwilling world into oneness Now that their ideas have proved unworkable, they wish still to be politicians but cannot find an issue which might be made popular, and really have vague and confused ideas about liberty and liberation

They are like the furrier who painted signs on the street corners asking "Zit—what is it?" Intending to furnish the answer (the address of his place of business) a few days later. The only difference is these people do not yet even know the answer

Liberty Defined

Their confusion about personal liberty sounds as foolish as a character impersonating Jefferson in a movie last week who said. "Ah, what I want is freedom to stand up and tell any man you are as good as he is' Liberty actually means the right to laugh at such a definition of freedom What he said simply was not true You are not necessarily as good as another man You are more apt to be worse, or better, in any given line. Few people actually are born equal All the constitution means is that people are born equal before the law, that justice shall be equally dispensed, not by warfare of class against class—or that "I am as good as you" Jefferson wrote a basic law, not a treatise on psychology or religion He really only said I have the legal right to be "as good as you!"

Some are born rich or poor, crippled or whole, intelligent or dull, slow or fast. The freedom guaranteed them is freedom of their persons, their right to make their way, freedom of their property, their intellect and being. The equality guaranteed is equality before law All this is not an absolute natural purism It does not propose that the dull shall be made bright, or that everyone both bright and dull shall be made half-bright—which was the basic confusion of the New Deal. These constitutional legal rights were made compatible only with the necessities of common decency (To be continued).

Alcoholics Governmental?

Washington, with 5,000 chronic drunks and 15,000 problem drinkers, has the nation's highest percentage of alcoholics, according to a just-completed survey.

That's one set of statistics you won't find in Chamber of Commerce brochures

Still, civic-minded Washingtonians should take pleasure at their city's standing in the Alcoholic League, seeing how poorly it does in the American

Of course, one reason there is more drinking in the capital than elsewhere is that, Washington residents not having the vote, bars don't have to close on election days.

One had noted increasing evidence of intoxication in Washington, but had thought it only the Republicans, and they with power.

Incidentally, isn't it strange how often you hear the expression, "sober as a judge" and how infrequently "sober as a congressman?"

At that, 15,000 problem drinkers isn't so bad . . That's not even one a problem

Seek Ways To Cut Gas Waste

By VERN HAUGLAND

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON — The federal government estimates that the United States wasted a trillion cubic feet of natural gas a year, about three times as much as it produced annually 40 years ago

Most of the loss is in "flaring" or escape, much of it deliberate, at the producing field Many oil producers, particularly in Texas, allow the by-product gas to escape in preference to marketing it and thereby coming under profit-taking restrictions of the Federal Power commission.

Estimated wastage for 1944 was 1 010 billion, the equivalent in heat production possibilities of more than 168,000 000 barrels of oil. Estimated 1946 consumption of natural gas was 4.9 trillion cubic feet.

The late James E. Pew, director of the natural gas and natural gasoline division of the Petroleum Administration for War, reported that consumption increased from 390 billion cubic feet in 1906 to 2 805 billion cubic feet at the end of 1941

"Prior to the war, natural gas production was comfortably meeting the requirements of a healthy, moderately expanding market," Pew said

Huge Wartime Increase

"War-time demands resulted in a 55 per cent increase in consumption Some areas, such as the Appalachian region were faced with diminishing reserves and required expanding drilling operations in an attempt to increase production In California, on the other hand, war-time difficulties were largely the result of inadequate transmission facilities"

Natural gas consumption rose from 2 79 trillion cubic feet a year at the start of the war to 4 9 trillion feet in 1946 The percentage of increase, by areas Appalachian, 15 per cent Midwest, 23, Southwest, 45, Rocky Mountain, 4, West Coast, 13 per cent.

The southwest region, including Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico and Texas, contain almost 75 per cent of the nation's natural gas reserves The Panhandle oil and gas field in Texas, with more than 1,500 wells, furnishes the major portion of gas tranported through long-distance pipelines serving the north central states

Greatest wastage naturally is in Texas, greatest producing state California, where fuel costs are much higher, wastes comparatively little, and is preparing to draw upon the Texan supply through a line under construction from west Texas California distributors charge from 10 to 15 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for natural gas, compared with four to seven cents by Texas distributors

Pew estimated that on Jan 1, 1945, the U S had a proved natural gas reserve of at least 135 trillion cubic feet in the oil and gas fields some 30 times the current annual rate of withdrawal and 505 times the immediate pre war rate He added:

Some Waste Eliminated

"Great quantities of natural gas have been wasted in the past and waste still continues although on a greatly reduced scale This waste is confined to oil field gas. Waste from dry gas fields has been almost entirely eliminated.

"Reasons for the waste are numerous and complex—some avoidable, some unavoidable. Gas wastage during the war was a result of high rates of oil production without adequate means of handling the accompanying natural gas, shortages of materials and manpower for installing adequate facilities for handling this gas, lack of local markets for the sale of the gas, and market prices too low to justify the necessary facilities for gathering, treating and handling the gas.

"Much is being done toward conservation through improved production practices and the establishment of markets for additional gas Principal among the improved production practices is the return of gas to the reservoir, commonly called pressure maintenance or repressuring to maintain reservoir pressure and increase ultimate recovery of oil

"California furnishes an outstanding example of how adequate price and markets can contribute to the elimination of waste and the efficient use of oil field gas. In that state favorable markets with adequate prices have reduced the waste of gas to a negligible amount"

The American Petroleum Institute and the American Gas Association in their annual report estimated the recoverable reserves of natural gas in the United States Dec 31, 1946, at 160,575,901 millions of cubic feet.

The Polish Face in the Window

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON, April 7—In the great national debate on the Greek-Turkish aid program, the United Nations has become a major red herring, confusing the real issue of the extent of American world responsibility The secretary general of the United Nations, Trygve Lie has contributed to this result. A few days ago he made a veiled public attack on the Truman programs What is worse, he has been freely talking in private with real indiscretion, openly criticizing the American government, stating that what has been done endangers the United Nations, and so on

Since Lie is so ready to look for motes in the eyes of his neighbors, it seems entirely justifiable to point to the rather conspicuous beam in his own eye After great difficulty, the Soviet representative on the security council was induced to consent this winter to sending a United Nations commission of inquiry to look into the civil war in Greece As secretary general of the United Nations Lie supplied this commission with its international secretariat. And the evidence suggests that the secretariat chosen by Lie for this vital duty was, to put it bluntly, heavily packed

The chief of the secretariat was a certain Colonel Lund, a Norwegian close to Lie, and believed by a good many competent observers to have intimate Soviet connections Lund's number two was a Pole, as to whose affiliations and sympathies there was even less doubt in the mind of any informed person Press relations were placed in the hands of a Canadian who either shared the same affiliations or suffered from a severe case of incompetence And so it went Altogether, the secretariat numbered 75 persons and among them there were a good many others who were also suspect in one way or another.

Factional Leaders

On reaching Athens, the UN commission of inquiry immediately divided into factions One faction was headed by the American chairman, the able Mark Ethridge, who insisted that the commission's task was that set for it by the security council. This was to look into the Greek civil war, and especially to determine whether this civil strife was being stimulated and supported by Greece's Soviet-dominated neighbors, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria The other faction was headed by the Soviet member, A A Lavrichef who insisted that the commission's task was to remain in Athens and put the Greek government on trial Specifically Lavrichef demanded that the commission supplant the Greek courts, and review the sentences of a number of convicted guerrilla leaders

The behavior of the commission secretariat during this period of controversy between Ethridge and Lavrichef was hardly that of a group of impartial, international civil servants In order to sustain Lavrichef, documents were tinkered with Dates on letters were altered Intensive efforts were made to gain the secretariat policy-making as well as administrative functions Altogether, an atmosphere of partisanship, intrigue and conspiracy was generated This period reached a kind of fantastic climax, when the rather simple, hearty British trades unionist commission member, R T Windle, woke from his sleep one night to see a figure half inside his bedroom window The intruder was none other than Colonel Lund's Polish assistant, come on business which the circumstances made it difficult to explain without embarrassment.

Victory for Ethridge

By persistence, clear-headedness, and the strength of his own case, Ethridge won in the end. The commission moved out of Athens to Salonika to do its job, and the secretariat was cut down to size In a week or so, the commission will return to this country to report. And with Lavrichef dissenting, the report is expected to be a powerful arraignment of outside interference in Greek affairs The question is now being argued whether simultaneously to bring charges of impropriety against the commission secretariat.

It must be said at once that Secretary General Lie could not be criticized if the secretariat of the commission of inquiry had simply been broadly representative. He would have been as much at fault if he had packed the secretariat to support Ethridge as he seems to have been in choosing a secretariat which acted as a sort of combined shock brigade and secret service for Lavrichef.

But this is less important than the larger lesson of the episode, which casts a sharp light on the whole problem of the United Nations and American policy It suggests, first of all, how utterly unhelpful it would have been to refer to the United Nations the Greek-Turkish problem as a whole If the Western-Soviet split within the United Nations is capable to so bedevilling a mere commission of inquiry, what would have been its effect on any discussion intended to lead to positive action?

Article IV

By TRUMAN TWILL

By the time this gets out of the printer hands Langley Collyer, rightful owner of th "mansion" which New York policemen hav been tearing apart may have turned up

If he has, this is to add one more fervent hop that he will hire the best lawyers his mone can buy and fry the grease out of some fat headed cops who've been behaving more li the Russian army than representatives of pol power in the nation's largest city.

To be sure, Homer Collyer died. His dea was made known to the police by a mysterio telephone call When Langley, the survivin brother, couldn't be found, complications arose the police wondered where he was So the began to look through the "mansion" in wh the two brothers had lived as recluses. The tw men had collected an incredible quantity o junk The house was full of it Search wa difficult.

But when did curiosity become an excuse fo moving a man's possessions out of his home Whatever excuses the New York police mana to think up for their high-handed procedur can't conceal the fact that the only persons wh a right to do what the police have done wer Langley Collyer, or his immediate relatives

The house was dirty It was cluttered It contents were incredible—truckloads of jun at least 14 pianos, a pump organ, tons of o newspapers It's easy to imagine the policemen became fascinated as their search picked u momentum. But it's not easy to believe the decision to move junk out of the house so they could look for Langley Collyer was backed u by anything but their own morbid curiosity

That is not, fortunately, a sufficient reaso for manhandling any man's possessions. Artic IV of the Bill of Rights says the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses papers and effects against unreasonable searche and seizures, shall not be violated The New York police department needs to read up on its basic law.

There are a lot of places in this country policemen would tear apart if they had an excuse That's why Article IV was included in the Bil of Rights. In Loving Memory
★Of Anne Juelke Ludwick, who departed this life April 5, 1945.

There is no death.

MEN Should Know Better!

When we were all kids together, we used to cross our fingers to ward off bad luck. Crossing the fingers is an ancient superstition indeed, and youngsters will probably practice it, and believe in it, for generations to come.

Grown men — and women — should know better, however. Take this matter of a funeral service, for example. Crossing your fingers and hoping for the best isn't sensible . . . isn't adult . . . isn't dependable.

It's far better to make a decision based on knowledge regarding ability, experience, prices, equipment, and facilities. We urge you to make your decision after a careful consideration of all these factors.

OHIO STATE ALUMNI WILL HOLD REUNION

First Post-War Meeting To Be Next Monday.

Final plans are being made this week for the first post-war reunion of the Ohio State Alumni club of Marion county to be held Monday night, April 14, at the First Presbyterian church. An effort is being made by Mrs. Richard Myers, secretary of the organization, to contact all persons eligible for membership in the organization, but due to the fact that a meeting has not been held for several years, many of the members serving in the armed forces and other circumstances, there have been changes in addresses and she is unable to get in touch with many of those eligible to attend. Because of this she is asking that those who have not been reached to contact her at 5778 or call Miss Margery Eymon, president of the club, at 5176, by Wednesday.

There will be a dinner at 6:30 o'clock and speaker will be John B. Fullen, secretary of the Ohio State University association. On the program also will be J. E. Weaver, field secretary of the association.

Secretary of the Ohio State university association since 1928, Mr. Fullen received his bachelor of science degree in journalism from the university in 1925. As an Ohio State student he was editor of the Lantern, president of Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity, member of Panhellenic council, Alpha Chi Rho and Scabbard and Blade. Following his graduation he was for a time managing editor of the Hollywood, Fla., News, returning to Columbus later as a staff writer on the Columbus Citizen.

Arrangements are in charge of a committee composed of Miss Isabelle Stump, chairman, Miss Mary Jo Stafford and J. E. Frew. Robert T. Mason, co-chairman for the Ohio State development fund, will act as toastmaster.

PNEUMONIA HELD CAUSE OF OHIO PAIR'S DEATH

Tiffin Police Find Divorced Couple Ill on Streets.

By The Associated Press

TIFFIN, O., April 7—Seneca County Coroner William Benner reported today that pneumonia caused the deaths yesterday of a divorced couple taken to the police station when they appeared ill.

Police Chief Harold J. Fraley identified the two as Herbert V. Trudeau, 52, and his former wife, Mrs. Nellie Bartlett, 52. Friends said they had been going together recently and planned to remarry, Fraley reported.

Trudeau was taken to police headquarters when he appeared in a dazed condition at a hotel, the police chief said. Released later when he seemed normal again, he walked a short distance away and dropped dead, Fraley reported.

Mrs. Bartlett, he said, was taken to the station for help after she collapsed on the street. She died before a physician arrived.

The police chief said the two had been drinking together earlier in the day.

fall to force John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers to call off a strike.

Appeal Fails

A last minute appeal by Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach, who had pleaded for a 48-hour postponement of the strike, was left unanswered by the policy committee, summoned from bed to hear the secretary's request.

Despite rejection of the postponement plea, the government kept up its efforts to end the dispute.

A negotiating session involving long distance setup of the Bell system broke up here at 10 a. m., after 23½ hours continuous meeting. But William Margolis, U. S. conciliator, said the group only recessed for a half hour "to get some coffee and orange juice."

"We're keeping right at it," Margolis told a reporter. "We're plugging hard."

At the White House, Assistant Press Secretary Eben Ayers said President Truman is "keeping informed" on developments in the strike but is leaving the problem to the labor department.

Phone Strike Has No Effect on Press, Radio

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 7 — The start of the nationwide telephone strike today caused no immediate interrupton of operation of leased wires serving the press and radio.

An official of the long lines department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said such wires were set up for continuous operation "and there's virtually nothing we have to do to maintain them. It would be many months before the system would fall apart."

However, union spokesmen predicted that because of the walkout of maintenance workers the communications services would feel the impact of the strike in "less than a week."

Leased wires also are used for ticker services and some business concerns.

One-Room Residence Damaged by Blaze

A one-room residence at the rear of 694 Herman street, owned by Mrs. Geneva Nauman, was considerably damaged by fire Sunday at 2:15 p. m., firemen reported. Loss was estimated at $1,500.

No one was home at the time Firemen said curtains used to partition the house into separate rooms caught fire, apparently from a stove.

Three grass fires, aided by the high wind, were reported over the weekend. One was at the rear of 791 North Main street Sunday at 8.50 p. m.; another near 446 Reed avenue Saturday at 3 p. m.; and another at the rera of 894-912 Oak Grove avenue Saturday at 8 p. m.

mally ends at 7 a. m., left their posts as the deadline was reached. They began filing from the downtown building. Directly across Huron road are located the offices of the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers (Ind.), one of the union affiliates which called the strike for higher wages and other demands.

Supervisory employes began answering calls from Cleveland to the long distance number.

In Columbus, sign-carrying pickets paced in front of the Ohio Bell Telephone company promptly as the deadline was reached.

Homer E. Smart, Columbus district commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. said there were signs that the strike was progressing uniformly throughout the state.

Smart said that it might be necessary for Columbus supervisory employes to handle all traffic on a normal basis for an hour or two after the deadline, but that as soon as "business picks up, we will accept long distance calls only on an emergency basis."

The peak periods of the day for long distance calls, Smart said were 9:30 a. m. to noon and 1 to 3 p. m.

Smart said 50 Columbus employes of the 130 would ordinarily be scheduled to go to work at 8 a. m. showed up this morning despite the strike.

Outside, an orderly picket line, including both men and women, marched up and down, carrying terse signs: "On strike." Some signs listed the striking organizations.

Smart said 1,000 employes in Columbus would be affected by the strike. Columbus and its suburban communities all are on the dial system.

Besides Ohio Bell, the Cincinnati and Suburban Telephone Co., a Bell affiliate, and the Citizens Telephone Co., Inc., serving northern Kentucky communities across the Ohio river from the Queen City, were forced to limit service when more than 2,500 operators, maintenance and other workers quit their jobs promptly at 6 a. m.

Cincinnati proper was not materially affected on local calls, since 90 per cent of its telephones are dial operated, but long distance lines were opened only for emergency calls.

Senators Predict Early Lilienthal Confirmation

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 7—Senators confidently predict confirmation of David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the atomic energy commission early this week even though his most outspoken critic, Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), has not announced his next move.

McKellar told a reporter he has not decided what, if any, further steps he will take to try to block Lilienthal's confirmation. His drive lost momentum Friday when the senate defeated, 52 to 38, a motion to return the nomination to committee for further study.

victims was ended. The miners stopped work Tuesday to observe the mourning period.

Adolph Pacifico, vice president of District 6 of the United Mine Workers of America said: "The mine safety committee will not be responsible for certifying as safe" the mines closed by the order.

West Virginia — President William Blizzard of UMW District 17 told his men "You are not going to work" and added: "We're exercising not only a contract right but a moral right to protect ourselves."

But President W. F. Minton of District 28, said his miners would work in all mines but those among the 518 ordered closed by Krug. He estimated 40 per cent of 12,000 district miners would remain idle. West Virginia, with 100,000 miners, is the nation's top producer.

Kentucky — Sam Caddy, UMW District 30 president, declared early today "As far as I know there will be no miners working."

Illinois — The coal mines administration reported strip mines scheduled to open but added "We have no assurance the men will go back to work."

Montana—UMW District President W. A. Boyle said no miners would work in Montana until mines are federally inspected. The 25 Montana mines employ about 2,500 men.

Pennsylvania — In the nation's second largest bitmuninous state, union leaders were chary of comment and a typical official said: "We can't make the men go back to work—we don't know what the situation is."

Utah - Wyoming — Houston Martin, District 22 president, said only "We've told the men not to go back to work in mines which are unsafe."

New Mexico — Union and management spokesmen expected all mines to reopen except two ordered closed by Krug. The state counts more than 1,000 miners in 37 pits.

Palestine Court Denies Terrorist's Death Appeal

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, April 7—The Palestine supreme court rejected today a plea that the death sentence imposed on Dov Bela Gruner, convicted member of the Jewish underground, be set aside as contrary to the terms of the British mandate in the Holy Land.

The plea was filed last week by the Jewish community of Tel Aviv after the privy council in London—Britain's highest court—had refused to consider an appeal filed by Gruner's uncle.

Gruner, a 33-year-old Hungarian Jew and veteran of the British army, has refused to take any action in his own case, maintaining he is a prisoner of war and should be treated as one.

He was condemned to death last Jan. 1 for participating in an Irgun Zvai Leumi raid on the Ramat Gan police station last May in which two policemen were slain.

Garrett replaces the veteran David Gray, who resigned the Irish diplomatic post recently for personal reasons.

A native of La Crosse, Wis., he has been in the banking business in Chicago, as well as Washington.

Japanese Vote Believed MacArthur Indorsement

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, April 7—A strong vote of confidence for General MacArthur and a distinct reprimand to left wing labor leaders appeared evident today in the unexpectedly convincing conservative victory for governorship of Tokyo prefecture.

Still incomplete returns from Saturday's election gave the Conservative incumbent a margin of more than 88,000 votes over his Socialist rival in what had been expected to be a tight race. In 1946, left and right were separated by only 5,000 votes.

In effect, the Japanese voters appeared to be indorsing MacArthur's action in halting the proposed general strike which left-wing labor groups had scheduled for February—partly as a test of strength with the Allied commander himself.

Throughout Japan, voters snubbed the Communists, encouraged the Socialists and obediently supported strong local Conservative political machines.

MOLOTOV COMPLAINS OF U.S. TROOPS IN CHINA

Doubts U. S. Intends to Fulfill Agreement.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, April 7—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov noted today that United States troops still were in China and said that this raised doubts as to "willingness to fulfill the obligations" undertaken under the Moscow agreement of December, 1945.

The Soviet news agency Tass distributed the text of a 600-word letter Molotov sent Secretary of State George C. Marshall in reply to the latter's March 16 suggestion for an exchange of written information on China. In his letter, Molotov reiterated his belief that fuller review of the Chinese situation by the Big Three—Russia, the United States and Great Britain—was in order during the current Moscow conference.

Molotov was reported to have sent the letted also to Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain—a signatory of the 1945 China agreement with the U. S. and Russia—and to have sent a copy to the Chinese ambassador to Moscow. Bevin has taken the position that the matter is one for the U. S., the Soviet Union and China to handle. China has opposed any such discussion from which she is excluded.

England's Mysterious River of Woe Appears

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 7 — England's "River of Woe," a stream that appears mysteriously and just as mysteriously disappears, is flowing again for the first time in nine years—to the terror of superstitious folk who believe the river's appearance is a warning of disaster.

Sometimes known as the Caterham "Woe Water" and sometimes simply as Croydon Bourne, the river last coursed through the Caterman valley near London in 1938 — just before a typhoid epidemic claimed 43 lives.

L. V. Gordon, Catherman urban council surveyor, scorned the belief that there is anything supernatural about the "Woe Water," and asserted it is merely the result of unusually heavy rainfall.

Taft Says G.O.P. Will Spurn Truman, Cut Taxes, Expenses

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 7—Senator Taft of Ohio declared today that the Republican-controlled congress will disregard President Truman's "political timing" and cut both taxes and government expenses this year.

Taft, who heads the senate Republican policy committee, told a reporter he regards as a "purely political statement" the President's assertion in his Saturday night Jefferson day address that the Republicans are headed toward "false economy."

"The President's budget will be cut," Taft said. "Estimated revenues are going to be larger. Taxes can be cut and a large surplus left to apply on the debt, for which the Democrats are suddenly much concerned after 14 years.

Spenders Will Be Active

"If we don't cut taxes now," the Ohio senator continued, "The spenders will soon find new ways to spend and spend and elect and elect."

Mr. Truman told his audience of Democratic party members he recognizes frankly that the present tax burden is too heavy to be considered permanent, adding:

"At a proper time I will support tax reduction and tax readjustment designed to reduce the burden and to adjust the burden to the needs of a peacetime economy.

Taft said this state indicates to him that Mr. Truman has "political timing" in mind.

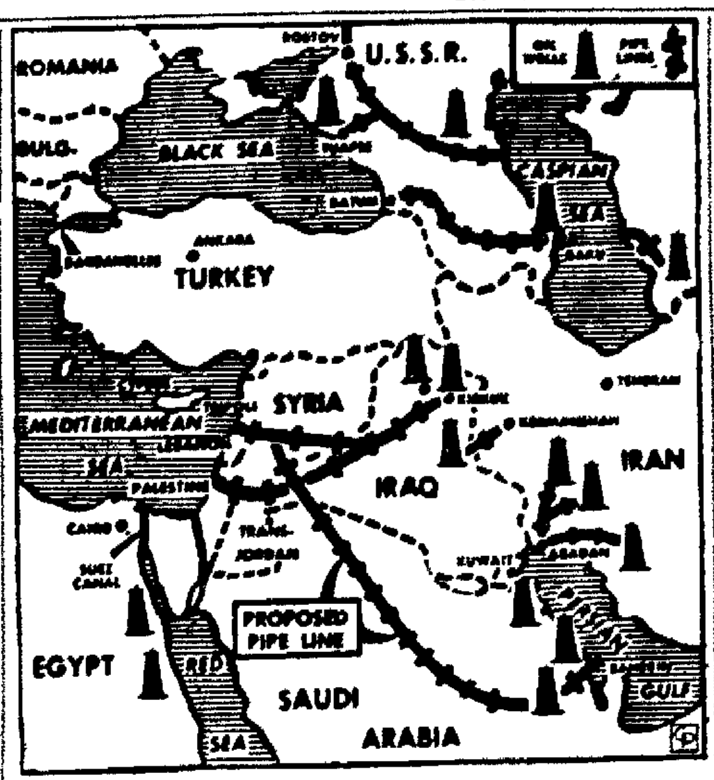
"The President says he recognizes that the present tax burden is too heavy—but the people in congress must wait until he says the proper time has arrived to cut taxes. Presumably, that will be just before the 1948 campaign when he is running for re-election.

"But the time to adjust the tax burden to the needs of a peacetime economy is now, making that adjustment apply to the third year after the end of the war."

Taft has advocated a slash in personal income taxes effective July 1. He has indicated that is one of the major changes he desires in the house approved bill now before the senate finance committee. That bill would provide reductions ranging from 20 to 30 per cent for most taxpayers, retroactive to January 1.

Taft said that the Republicans are going to find ways of reducing expenditures without crippling necessary government functions.

"Every department of the government now has more money and more personnel than it ever had before in peacetime," he said.



TO START LARGEST OIL PIPELINE. With the awarding of contracts to five American firms, construction of the world's largest oil pipeline is being readied by the Trans-Arabian Pipeline Co., a subsidiary of the Arabian-American Co. The project takes on particular importance due to the recent emphasis placed on oil production in the Middle East and introduction of the oil issue into the Greek-Turkish situation. As shown in this map, the new line will be about 1,200 miles long, running from the Persian Gulf coast, through Trans-Jordan, to a Syrian port on the Mediterranean. When completed, Saudi Arabia will yield 11,000,000,000 barrels yearly.

PRICE CUT RUMOR KEEPS STEEL AGOG

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 7 — The magazine Steel reported today that United States Steel Corp. was considering substantial across-the-board reduction in base prices.

A denial of the report by Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, still did not halt the rumors, the trade journal said.

Despite a break in the scrap market, the downward adjustment was normal. Prices were reported off from $1 to $8 per ton at various points.

The coal mine shutdown failed to interfere with the ingot rate which held at the record peacetime pace of 97 per cent of capacity. Operations rose 5 points in Cincinnati to 75 per cent of capacity and Cleveland jumped 2 to 96. Operations were down 1 to 100.5 at Pittsburgh.

Steel's composite market average eased to $35.67 from $37.50 on steelmaking scrap while holding unchanged at 69.82 on finished steel and $22.49 on steelmaking pig iron.

4 CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE AS HOME RAZED

By The Associated Press

ELMSFORD, N. Y., April 7—Four children were burned to death today in a fire which destroyed their home.

Mrs. George Brown, mother of three of the victims, was awakened shortly after 6 a. m. by flames. Patrolman John McMahon said she did not receive an answer from the telephone operator when she tried to call the fire department, rushed outside and sent in an alarm from a fire box.

The telephone strike became effective here at 6 a. m., but William O'Connor, telephone company manager, said sufficient supervisory personnel was on duty at the time to give normal service, particularly because of the low volume of calls at that hour.

The alarm was turned in at 6:10 a. m., and the firemen responded within several minutes.

The children, trapped on the second floor, were unable to escape because screens had been nailed to the windows, McMahon said.

Dr. Amos O. Squire, Westchester county medical examiner, identified the dead as James Brown, 3; his brother, George, 6, his sister, Barbara, 11, and a cousin who lived with them, Margaret Mahoney, 17.

MARION CUBS BEGIN SPRING BASEBALL PRACTICE TODAY

Sod, Cinders and Sawdust For Harding; Spring Sports Begin

It's sod, cinders and sawdust for Harding athletes from here on in. Initial practice drills in baseball and track start at the stadium and the practice field adjacent this afternoon.

The first day will be devoted chiefly to issuing equipment and limbering up exercises. Boys turning out will be allowed to try for positions on both teams

Baseball under the tutelage of W N. Wiley will greet the return of eight regulars from last season's team, which turned in an impressive record. With a starting nine about shaped up, Wiley will be able to mold reserve strength and concentrate on polishing the club for it's first start sometime next week. Besides handling baseball, Wiley is an assistant grid coach

Ralph Simpson and his assistant William Thomas will be more or less starting from scratch with the thin clads. Only 15 boys were on the track team last season but interest is reported to be much higher this year

Simpson has talked to meetings at which about 100 boys from Harding and Edison showed up and most of them indicated that they would be out for the team.

The coaches won't be entirely unfamiliar with the boys that are present for the first drill. Simpson and Thomas coached football last fall and have made it a must that boys wishing to play football next fall be out for track.

Incidentally, Thomas, who heads gridders, and also handles the Harding physical education program, is still looking for a home in Marion He said earlier that if unsuccessful in his quest he may leave the high school.

Ousted

L E (Pap) Haskell who was ousted as director of athletics at the University of Oklahoma, says he was "fired because I exceeded the athletic budget to give a winning athletic program" Haskell said he exceeded the budget in some cases because of orders from University President George L Cross and the university board of regents.

Feller Makes Last Appearance Before Opener.

By The Associated Press

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 7—The Cleveland Indians and the New York Giants were tied at five victories apiece today as the two clubs stopped here on their barnstorming trip north.

Bob Feller and Bryan Stephens were the main cogs in the Indians' 2 to 1 triumph yesterday before an overflow throng of 11,157 at Oklahoma City, largest in the city's baseball history

Feller, making his next to last start before opening day, hurled seven innings, allowed seven hits, walked only one and fanned seven.

Stephens, making a strong bid to become a regular starter with the Tribe, faced only six batters in the last two innings and did not permit anything resembling a hit

Bill Ayres was the losing pitcher, although the Indians made only six hits off him in eight frames

George Metkovitch, purchased last week from the Boston Red Sox, reported to the club yesterday morning and made his first appearance in center field.

Burbrink Arrives To Take Over As Local Club Manager

New Mentor Promises "Hustling" Outfit in First Year as Diamond Strategist.

By DON C. BURTON

A young, ambitious man arrived in Marion Saturday night to launch a career as manager in professional baseball.

He is Nelson Burbrink who will take over the destinies of the Marion Cubs in the Ohio State league for the 1947 season which opens at Lima April 27 The new skipper was accompanied to Marion by his wife who is a dyed-in-the-wool baseball fan.

The Marion mentor has three weeks of preliminary practice to get ready for his debut as a team manager. He will be met by at least 10 youngsters at Lincoln park today. Others to a total of 35 are expected by tomorrow. This number will be pared down to 20 by opening day.

Hails from Cincinnati

Burbrink, who hails from Cincinnati, is only 25 years old and is a likable chap is very anxious to make the grade as a manager. He played high school baseball with Hughes High in the Queen City in 1938 and with a semi-pro club there in 1939 In 1940 the young Cub chieftain started his career in the play-for-pay game at LeNoir, N C, in the Tarheel league In 1940-41 he played for Ashland, Ky in the Mountain State league where he hit .325 and .318 respectively Burbrink entered the Navy in October 1942 and was discharged in November 1945

While in the service the new Cub boss played with Navy teams. In 1943 he played with the Chicago Pier team During the 1944 season he performed with the Norfolk Naval base team In 1945 he was in the Canal Zone and while there played in the Canal Zone league on the same team with Terry Moore great Cardinal outfielder On an opposing team was Mickey Harris of the Boston Red Sox

With Davenport Last Year

Last year Burbrink got back into organized baseball with the Chicago Cub farm club at Davenport, Ia., in the Three-I league He is a catcher who weighs 185 pounds and is 5 feet 11 inches tall Also at Davenport he filled in at third base and in the outfield

The game he remembers best in that loop was in a playoff game at the end of the season His Davenport club had tied with Danville for the pennant and the two teams were locked in a playoff for the championship like the St Louis Cards and Brooklyn Dodgers in the National league

With the score tied at 2-2 in the ninth a Davenport batter walked and up came Burbrink who sent a drive over the fence for two runs and the ball game, 4-2 before a crowd of 8,000 howling fans.

Not knowing much about the personnel that is to make up the 1947 team here, Burbrink would not commit himself on what he thought his chances were to finish high in the standings, but he did promise a hustling outfit with every player giving his all even while on the bench He expects to establish a curfew for the players by requiring them to be in bed each night by 1 a m

To Hold Morning Practice

He says players who sleep during the night instead of the daytime have much more pep. He also says he will hold morning practice when the team is at home in order to polish the technique of each boy.

Burbrink comes to Marion highly recommended by Jack Sheehan, director of the Chicago Cubs farm teams Sheehan thinks the new Marion mentor will go far in the managing end of baseball and will be watching his work closely.

His appointment represents a departure from "name" managers the locals have had during the three years baseball has been in Marion. So far a former big leaguer has directed the Marion entry. Some have thought these oldtimers have not been interested in climbing the managerial ladder and, therefore, did not take the time to teach the game as well as a young man who was ambitious might do

The new Marion skipper knows not only will the local owners and fandom be watching his work but also the Chicago Cubs are interested to find if he has the leadership to produce a winning outfit.

Hazen Is Optimistic

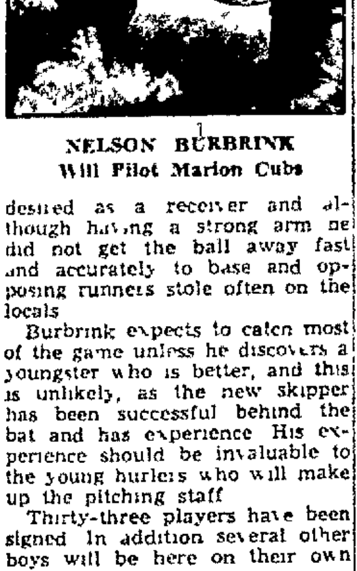
For this reason Judge W. Dexter Hazen is very enthusiastic about the Marion chances this year. Hazen feels the parent organization will take more interest in the locals than did the Cardinals in 1945-46

Burbrink saw two of his pupils in action at the Cubs' Florida GI training school at St. Augustine this year. The two were James Forbes, a first baseman, and Bob Meyers, a hot corner aspirant. He liked the looks of both youngsters.

Practice for the first week will consist mostly of conditioning work with very little throwing Burbrink does not wish to take the chance on sore arms by bearing down too early. Running and pepper game will be on the menu most of this week he says. At the same time he will be getting a line on the potential ability of his material. If the weather is not favorable for baseball practice at Lincoln park, then the time will be spent in skull practice in which the tactics and strategy of the national pastime will be thoroughly discussed.

Top Notch Catcher

One of the weaknesses of the Marion team since the beginning has been the lack of a top notch catcher. Although Vernon Rapp was one of the loops better hitters last year, he left much to be desired as a receiver and although having a strong arm he did not get the ball away fast and accurately to base and opposing runners stole often on the locals



NELSON BURBRINK
Will Pilot Marion Cubs

Burbrink expects to catch most of the game unless he discovers a youngster who is better, and this is unlikely, as the new skipper has been successful behind the bat and has experience His experience should be invaluable to the young hurlers who will make up the pitching staff

Thirty-three players have been signed In addition several other boys will be here on their own to try out for the team

In previous years the locals have started the preliminary practice with very few signed players and those were boys without previous experience in the pro game When the Marion group signed with the Chicago Cub farm system the Cubs dropped the Statesville team of the North Carolina State league, another class D affiliate.

Transferred Here

Several players with that team last year have been transferred to Marion for another year of class D An entire pitching staff from the Statesville squad will be on hand

Dick Pace, Cardington boy with the locals in 1944, was one of these after he returned from military service last year. Another was John Tate who won 10 games and lost four after joining the Statesville crew late in the year

3 Other Catchers

Three other catchers besides Burbrink are signed and are expected to report today. They are Bruce Adams, Jerry Sullivan and Chester Luucki The pitching staff will be chosen from the following righthanders W B Brendell, James Regula William Rosin, Frank Smith, John Tate, Edward Witowski, Dick Pace, Paul Strohl, John Edington, Gene Peters, Earl Johnson, lefthanders Ray Alman, John Parrott and Stanley Brown Edington and Pace are local boys Eight infielders to report are William Bolduc, Aaron Gray, Bob Meyers, James Forbes, George Salyers, Gene Bob Zean, Vito Tutera and Bob Diedrick. The three outfielders already signed are Tom Parrott, Joe Scavo and Alex Kolbicka Several other boys have already agreed to come out for tryouts before signing

ROOKIE RED HURLER HANDCUFFS RED SOX

Lively Makes Bid for Starting Position.

By The Associated Press

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 7 — Keep your eye on Everett Lively, 22-year-old right hander who definitely has his eye on a starter pitching assignment with the Cincinnati Reds.

The youngster threw six innings of no-hit no-run ball at the mighty Boston Red Sox yesterday in Birmingham, Ala.—Lively's home town. Incidentally—as the Reds defeated the American league champions, 9-5

Lively took over for the Reds at the start of the fourth inning after the Red Sox clubbed Bucky Walters for seven hits and all their runs in the first three frames Lively had trouble with his control at times, issuing six passes, but he mixed his sharp curve with his blazing fast ball to keep Boston's big bats well under control. He fanned two

Walters, however, redeemed himself by slamming out a third-inning homer to account for Cincinnati's first run and drove in two more with a sharp single in the fourth.

After the game, President Warren Giles of the Cincinnati club, announced that Jack Warren, catcher-outfielder who hit .343 for Columbia of the Sally league in 1946, had been optioned to Hollywood of the Pacific coast league

JOE SUKNAIC BACK FOR TRY WITH CUBS

Joe Suknaic, an outfielder with the Marion team in the early part of 1945, returned to Marion Saturday for a tryout with the Cubs today

Suknaic was one of the leading batters of the Ohio State league while here two years ago He was hitting 343 when he asked for his release in June of that year

At that time Joe was having trouble with his eyes which prevented him from locating balls hit to him in the outfield After leaving Marion he took treatment for his ailing eyes and then entered the Marines and spent nearly two years in service He reports that his eyes are now in good condition and he thinks he is again ready for pro ball

If he can not make the grade as an outfielder Joe has asked that he be given a chance as a pitcher Baseball officials here are of the opinion that if his eyes are again in good condition, Joe is a natural for one of the places in the Cubs outer garden Suknaic is from Harrisburg, Pa.

Another boy returning for a tryout on his own is Bob Boddy of Toledo who started the season of 1944, first year of the league here, at third base for the locals and hit a home run in the opening game Boddy was later traded to Lima and was released by that club He was then only 16 years old He thinks his experience and added years since will give him a chance. Boddy went into military service until discharged a year ago He has been attending the University of Michigan.

Braves Bear Watching Because Billy Southworth Is Manager

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla.—"Any team managed by Billy Southworth bears watching."

That was the gist of the conversation wherever National league managers gathered in Florida this spring Most pilots agree Southworth's Boston Braves are the dark horse of the pennant race.

The Braves have improved noticeably since last fall through the acquisition of a steady hand at third base in Bob Elliott of the Pirates and a rookie star at first base in Earl Torgeson of Seattle of the Pacific Coast league

BOSTON BRAVES

Hitting—Plenty.
Outfield—Veteran.
Infield—Fair.
Pitching—Good.
Catching—Adequate.
Finish—2 - 3.

Manner Favors Braves

Another thing favoring the Braves is the manner in which Southworth handles his players. Seven former St. Louis Cardinals are members of the Tribe and during his six seasons in Missouri Southworth always managed a first division team. He won three pennants and two world's series Last year his Braves were fourth, one game back of the Chicago Cubs.

"I think we are stronger than last season" said Southworth just before his team left for the north. Bob Elliott will be a big help to us on third Pittsburgh wanted a manager and we needed a third baseman so the Pirates got Billy Herman and we grabbed Elliott.

"Torgeson looks every part of a Big League first baseman He's onlp 23 and is the fastest man on the club He has confidence and ability and that's all I ask.

Barrett Big Help

"I think Red Barrett can be a big help, too He didn't get to pitch much with the Cardinals last season (Charley Barrett won three and lost two) and he won 23 games in 1945"

Elliott, 30, wants to forget his .265 batting average with Pittsburgh last season For three straight years, from 1943 through 1945, he drove in at least 100 runs a season and boasts a 295 average for eight seasons in the majors, all in the Smoky City He's the sort of player who can be counted on. Since he came up from Toronto in 1939 the English-Dane has played 140 or more games every season.

Torgeson gives the Braves a third left-handed hitter the others being the veteran swat-smiths Tommy Holmes and Johnny Hopp who were among the 10 National leaguers to hit above 300 in 1946

Torgeson batted 285 for Seattle in 103 games is six three and scales 180 pounds The Braves have liked him for a long while He hit .312 for Seattle in 1942 and after three years in the Army Boston gave out $75 000 and five players for the bespectacled speed merchant. He stole 52 bases in two

EARL TORGESON
Rookie Will Handle First

years at Seattle His only other year in organized ball was at Wenatchee, Wash, in 1941 when he batted 332 in 92 games at the age of 18

Another big item in the Boston picture is Johnny Sain 28-year-old right hander whose 20 victories last season ranked second to Howie Pollet of the Cards Sain showed marked improvement last year, his second in the majors Sain had a 2 21 earned run average, second to Pollet's leading mark of 2 10

If Sain equals his 1946 record and Big Mort Cooper and Red Barrett produce, the Back Bay boys are going to make things mighty interesting in the National league

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"I AM afraid not," I said dolefully. "She and her husband are in Washington, a sort of 'hush-hush' mission for the government. He leans very heavily upon her—they were estranged for years because of peculiarly tragic circumstances for which neither was to blame— and I know that, though he might consent to her coming to aid us under the circumstances, it would not be fair to either of them to ask her to leave him."

"I suppose not," he agreed, and with a heart rapidly traveling toward my shoe soles, I realized that the problem of providing Mary with nurses whose presence she would not resent was sorely troubling him.

Will Get Two Nurses

"Well," he said after an instant, squaring his shoulders, "there is but one thing to do. In the morning, I will get hold of the two best nurses I can find, one for night duty, one for day. But I wish Mrs. Bickett were here."

The next minute I gazed at him with a sort of awed wonderment, fancying that the gift of Aladdin's lamp must be his.

For the telephone shrilled, and, as I was nearest, I answered it, and heard Katharine's voice.

"Jack and I just got in," she said, "and we have to talk to you as soon as possible. Is it convenient for us to come up now? And is Dicky around?"

"Yes, to both questions," I replied. "We shall be waiting—and so glad to see you. Good-bye."

Curious Gaze

"Good-bye," she said, and I hung up the receiver and turned slowly, feeling as if I were sleepwalking, to meet the curious gaze of Dicky and Dr. Twitchell.

"You look bowled over, old dear," Dicky said. "Don't tell me old Phil is bringing Olga, Noel and Olina down for a little chat!"

"No, no," I said. "But Katharine and Jack are on their way up here. They just got in."

"You mean Mrs. Bickett?" Dr. Twitchell asked, in the voice of a man just receiving the news of a reprieve.

"Yes," I told him, and Dicky bent double with laughter which I knew in a woman would spell a touch of hysteria.

"If this were a novel, or a soap serial," he said, "I would rise to remark that the long arm of coincidence was being stretched so far it was leaving its socket. But as it's real life, I'm wondering if this may not mean a break for us. If they're back in the hotel, Jack may not object to Katharine's doing part-time duty, at least."

Knocker Sounded

"We shall know in a few minutes," I commented, and indeed, in another two minutes, the knocker sounded, and when I went to the door I saw, not only Jack and Katharine, but my father as well.

Even as his arms went around me, I knew this was no social or filial visit. The expression on his face was that of "The Chief," engaged in an intricate bit of investigation for the government.

But as my father's eyes fell on Dr. Twitchell, alarm leaped into them and his "working expression" was laid aside.

"Who is ill?" he asked. "Faith?" In his voice was all the loving anxiety which is his for his only granddaughter, doubly dear to him because she is the namesake of my little mother, so tragically lost to him years before her death. Because of his infatuation for her dearest friend, he had left her with me, his only child, then four years old, and when, only a few months later, he faced his soul and knew that my mother was the only woman in the world for him, she had disappeared with me.

Searched for Years

For years, dubbed the "Quester of Broadway," he had searched for us. But only after her death, and my marriage to Dicky, had he seen us after the theater in a restaurant, noted my strong resemblance to my mother and realized that his quest was ended.

Because my mother had left a letter for me, regretting her own unrelenting attitude and bidding me forgive him if we ever should meet, I gladly had returned the affection he had showered on me, and had tried to make his later years as happy as possible.

And now I hurried to relieve his anxiety.

"No, Faith is at kindergarten," I said. "But Mary has come home from the sanitarium, and she is desperately ill."

SO THAT'S WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR MYSTERIOUS ACTIVITIES— OIL!
QUITE SO! THE BACK COUNTRY TRIBESMEN WILL FOLLOW ME AS THEY DID MY ANCESTOR. WITH THEIR AID, I WILL SEIZE THE NORTHERN PROVINCES. THE ONLY OIL RESERVES IN THIS PART OF THE WORLD ARE CONTAINED IN THOSE AREAS.
BUT WHAT ABOUT THE ARMY? THEY HAVE SOME MODERN EQUIPMENT, AND SHOULD BE ABLE TO SCATTER YOUR TRIBESMEN WITHOUT TOO MUCH TROUBLE.
ONCE I HOLD THE OIL FIELDS, THEY WON'T DARE MOVE AGAINST ME.
I'LL INFORM THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT THAT ANY HOSTILE MOVE WILL RESULT IN MY SABOTAGING THE OIL FIELDS BEYOND REPAIR. THEN, I'LL LET WORD REACH THEM THAT I COULD BE BOUGHT OFF.
IT'S RATHER A CLEVER IDEA, I THINK, TO HOLD A NATION'S NATURAL RESOURCES FOR RANSOM.
